LLB Course in India: Eligibility, Duration, Subjects and Career Opportunities

A Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is one of the most popular professional courses for students who want to build a career in the legal field. The course develops an understanding of laws, legal procedures, research, drafting, and analytical skills. Students can pursue careers in litigation, corporate law, legal consultancy, compliance, judiciary preparation, and other legal services.

What Is an LLB Course?

LLB is a professional law degree designed to provide students with theoretical as well as practical knowledge of the legal system. In India, students can generally pursue a 3-year LLB course after graduation, while students who have completed Class 12 can opt for an integrated five-year law programme such as BA LLB or BBA LLB. The Bar Council of India (BCI) lays down rules relating to legal education and recognition of law degrees.

Eligibility for 3-Year LLB

For a three-year LLB programme, candidates generally need to have completed a bachelor's degree from a recognized university or equivalent institution. Admission requirements, minimum marks, and entrance procedures can vary according to the university or institution.

Students should also check whether the law programme and institution meet the applicable Bar Council of India recognition requirements, particularly if they intend to pursue legal practice after graduation.

What Do Students Study in LLB?

An LLB curriculum commonly covers subjects such as Constitutional Law, Contract Law, Criminal Law, Family Law, Property Law, Company Law, Labour Law, Environmental Law, Jurisprudence, and Law of Evidence. Practical components such as internships, moot courts, legal drafting, and mock trials can help students understand how legal concepts are applied.

Choosing an LLB College in Jaipur

Choosing the right institution is an important step for law aspirants. Students should consider faculty experience, curriculum, practical exposure, library facilities, internships, academic support, location, and recognition before making a decision.
